

SIARTER Y MYFYRWYR STUDENT CHARTER

Welcome to the University of South Wales

As a student of the University of South Wales, you should have high expectations of your time studying with us. Our Charter explains the University's commitment to working in partnership with you to provide a high-quality student experience that helps you to achieve personal and academic success.

The University of South Wales has a reputation for high-quality teaching, outstanding student support and for preparing our students for employment. We are ambitious in preparing you for your future success through rigorous academic and personal development, and we continue to invest in a learning environment that helps you study and develop in ways that suit your needs.

We believe that such success is best achieved through working together as partners in a spirit of trust and mutual respect, upholding at all times the values of the University. This is the basis of our Student Charter and is a result of the strong working relationship between the University and the Students' Union.

The Charter outlines the shared expectations of both you as a student and of the University. The Charter is reviewed annually taking into account feedback from students and staff. The Charter also outlines what is expected of you as a student during your time at the University in order for you to perform to the best of your ability.

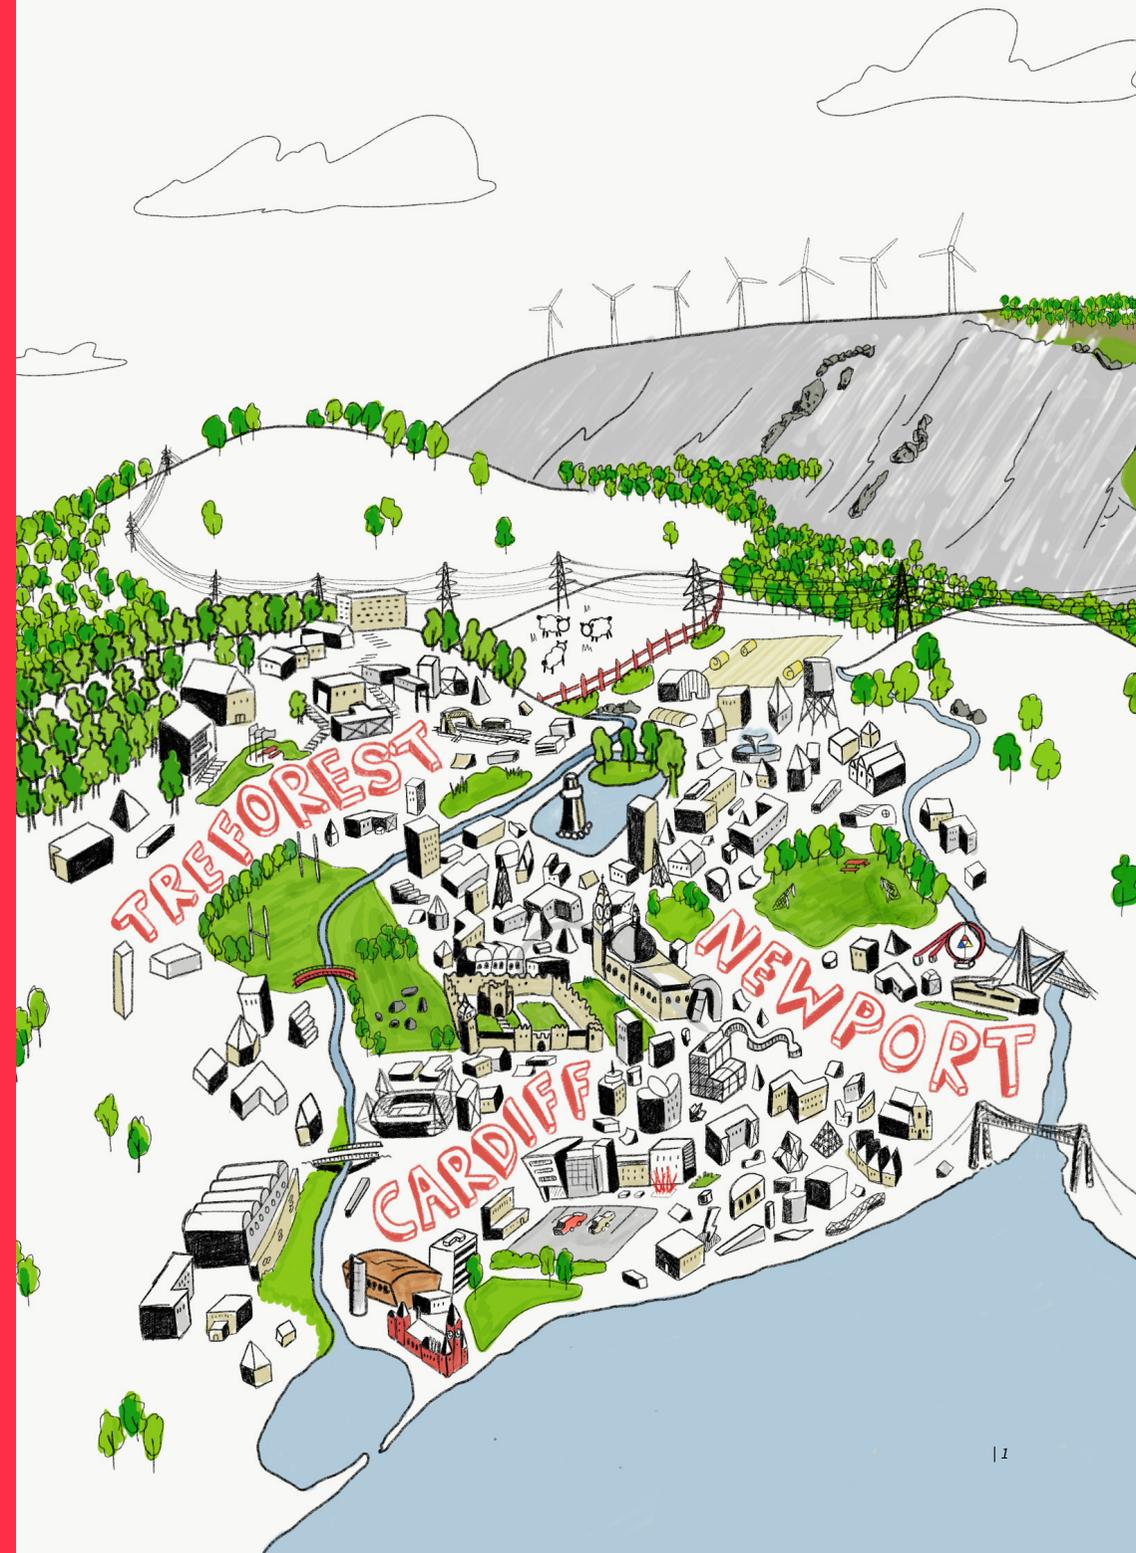

We hope this Charter helps you understand the principles on which our successful learning community is founded, and enables you to have the best possible experience during your time as a University of South Wales student.

Vice-Chancellor, USW

David Pye
President, USWSU

Introduction

The Student Charter is a set of common principles, which explains what you can expect from your University and what, in turn, the University expects from our students. The Student Charter is a requirement of all UK Universities, and has been developed in consultation with University staff and students. It clearly outlines the roles and responsibilities of everyone involved in your University experience, ensuring we all play our part in developing a vibrant and exciting on-line and campus student community.

We start from a shared set of values that provide a context for how we will work together.

Together, we will: Professional

- Be accountable for the delivery of our personal and team objectives
- Act with integrity to ensure people can trust and rely on us
- Take responsibility individually and collectively for contributing to our strategic goals
- Value and respect every individual for their contribution to our university

Creative

- Nurture curiosity and innovation so that ideas can flourish
- Embrace new ideas
- Actively look to collaborate not compete with others in our University
- Take risks and challenge current ways of working and learning to make a positive impact

Inspiring

- Be passionate about celebrating success

- Be dynamic, stimulating and motivating
- Create opportunities that widen our horizons
- Transform lives

Responsive

- Be flexible and agile, embracing change
- Be approachable, seeking feedback to continually develop
- Challenge blockers and blocking behaviours
- Identify and communicate best practice and ideas

Collaborative

- Actively collaborate across our University and externally for mutual benefit
- Be inclusive, valuing and respecting every individual for their contribution
- Identify and communicate best practice and ideas

- An elected course representative and student voice representative through whom your views can be communicated

You can expect from your Students' Union

- Representation through your Sabbatical Officers at the highest level of University governance structures
- Opportunities to become involved in representing your fellow students through involvement in Student Council, the Students' Union Trustee Board, and attending various student representative conferences
- If you speak Welsh, the opportunity to be elected as the Welsh Language Officer, have the opportunity to attend Welsh language conferences and sit on the University's Coleg Cymraeg Cenedlaethol committee
- The ability to attend representative meetings, and submit policy at all levels
- Transparent and well managed election processes to ensure you are able to fully participate in the selection of your representatives
- Training for all your student representatives to ensure you are represented effectively and professionally
- Access to the advocacy function from your Sabbatical Officers

We expect from you

- To support your student and Students' Union representatives and make them aware of your views, in order to enable them to represent your views accurately and appropriately
- To take part in the election processes for student and Students' Union representatives
- To complete course and module evaluations as required
- To engage with all relevant feedback mechanisms the University uses to gather student opinions on your course and the wider academic community, such as the National Student Survey (NSS) and the Postgraduate Research Experience Survey (PRES)
- Use all forms of spoken, written and digital communication (including social media and networking sites) responsibly, respecting the right to privacy of others at all times

Your Welfare

You can expect from your University

- Full access to integrated frontline student services through our Advice Zones
- Access to relevant online and 'self help' resources through UniLife
- Access to a blended (on-campus or via digital platforms such as Teams) delivery of specialist support services.
- A personal academic coach who can provide you with 1-2-1 academic advice and refer you to other services as required.
- The University will provide advice and guidance and students are expected to adhere to any relevant government restrictions that are in place. More information can be found on Unilife. Coronavirus Advice and Guidance | University of South Wales

You can expect from your Students' Union

- Relevant and useful campaigns informing you of your rights as students
- Representation on relevant University committees to ensure your voice is heard
- A strong partnership with the Student Services Department to ensure your non-academic needs are met
- Support and advice from your Sabbatical Officers and Student Council Officers
- Signposting to relevant support services.
- A nice cup of tea, peer support, and a shoulder to cry on if needed.

- To be responsible for your own health, safety and wellbeing and that of other students and others within the University community
- To advise the University of any circumstances, needs or restrictions that may affect your participation in the University, whether it be pre-existing or new, in order for us to successfully support you. In particular, you are invited to inform the University of risks to your health or travel difficulties as the result of COVID-19
- To advise the University should you display any symptoms of the coronavirus
- To inform the University if you have to self-isolate, and to keep in regular contact in order to enable us to support you
- To be mindful of others, and recognise and respect how your behaviour can impact on other students and the wider community
- To develop your own awareness of support services and how to access them

Your Concerns

You can expect from your University

- To be able to make a complaint or lodge an appeal through formal published University processes without fear of recrimination or unfair bias
- Access to clear appeals and complaints procedures and support through those processes
- To be treated with fairness and courtesy during any investigation processes
- Access to transparent extenuating circumstances processes
- Access to relevant information about University procedures on the University website and Unilife

You can expect from your Students' Union

- Confidential and impartial advice, support and representation through any appeals, complaints or academic breach procedures
- Representation on all complaints and appeal panels, ensuring all processes and decisions are fair and just
- Representation on University working groups when reviewing policies and procedures, to ensure the student is at the heart of the process at all times

We expect you

- To follow the procedures closely, and where possible, provide relevant key facts and evidence within the specified timescales
- To act with respect and courtesy if you are involved in any University procedure
- Not to make malicious or vexatious complaints or allegations

Your Life Outside Class

You can expect from your University

- Access to careers, employability and other services, including advice on work placements
- Access to part time working opportunities advertised through the careers service and UniLife
- Where relevant to your course, access to professional accreditations that build awareness of the quality of your degree
